

I am extremely concerned and angry about the abuse of our rights to free and unbiased news reporting, and about the inappropriate use of media for political purposes, by media giants such as Sinclair and Pappas. The use of public airways for partisan purposes seems inappropriate and unethical if not illegal. Our partisan media masquerading as nonpartisan news reporting is inappropriately and unfairly--and i feel unethically--attempting to unduly influence the public to satisfy personal agendas, most of them power and money. As a country, we have the obligation to maintain unbiased news reporting, and inappropriate use of public resources--such as airways--for personal political, financial etc gains. Perhaps if enough of us "regular citizens" complain, someone will be brave enough to confront these powerful but despicable giants and take some action to restore our democracy.
